Visioning Activity

- ▶ Think and write about a memorable Pro-D activity you have been part of
 - ▶ What made it memorable?
 - ▶ Is it still relevant?
 - ▶ Who is the audience?
 - ▶ Does it support decolonizing or anti-oppression work?
- ▶ What are the components of an excellent Professional Development activity?

THE PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT LENS

At the centre of the lens are teachers and their learning, both as a collective and as individuals. The term "teachers' professional development" is used to highlight its use both in thinking about individual PD and PD as a collective endeavor.

The Inner Ring: Key criteria

The inner ring consists of three factors that are necessary for an activity to be considered professional development. If any of the three are not present, then the activity should not be seen as professional development.

The Outer Ring: Necessary factors

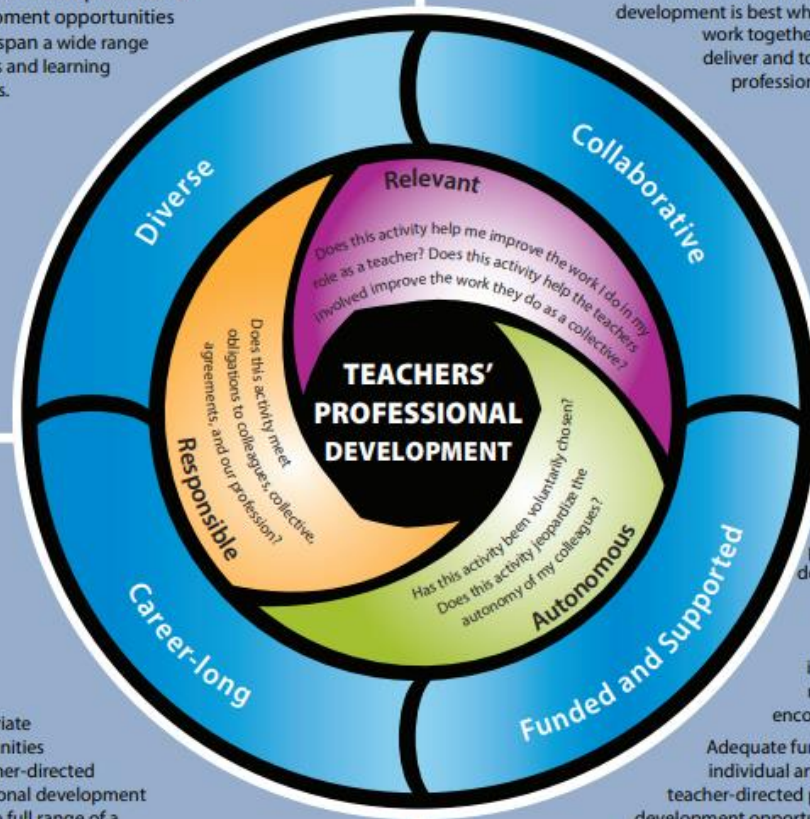

The factors in the outer ring are critical to the success of teacher-directed professional development as a collective endeavor. In turn, this collective work provides the necessary conditions for all teachers to be able to create their own rich tapestries of appropriate professional learning.

Diverse

Teacher-directed professional development opportunities should span a wide range of topics and learning methods.

Collaborative

Teacher-directed professional development is best when teachers work together to plan, to deliver and to share their professional learning.

Appropriate opportunities for teacher-directed professional development span the full range of a teacher's career.

Career-long

Teacher-directed professional development must be supported with time, information, respect, and encouragement.

Adequate funds for both individual and collective teacher-directed professional development opportunities must be available.

Self-Directed Professional Development

Joint Statement on Self Directed Professional Development This statement has been developed by the Vancouver Board of Education District and School Administrators, Vancouver Secondary Teachers' Association, and the Vancouver Elementary School Teachers' Association.

We agree with the following points with respect to self directed professional development activities:

- 1) Self-Directed Pro D has a valuable role to play in the full complement of a teacher's professional development.
- 2) Members have a professional responsibility to plan for their Self-Directed Pro D.
- 3) A plan should be submitted to the School Pro D Committee in advance of a Pro D day (suggested about two weeks prior).
- 4) The Principal is a member of the Pro D Committee and has access to those plans.

We also agree there are principles which outline best practices for professional development, both self-directed and staff organized. These are outlined in the VSB/VTF Pro D Handbook and in a variety of BCTF documents. A variety of resources are available to assist in planning in the VSB/VTF Pro D Handbook and documents created by VSTA and VESTA.

Professional Autonomy

Discussion:

- ▶ In which areas of the work do you feel you have sufficient autonomy?
- ▶ In which areas would you prefer to see greater autonomy?

Professional Autonomy Anticipation Guide

1. BC Ministry mandated curriculum are often updated and/or revised. Do you have the professional autonomy to work from the older curriculum if you prefer those learning outcomes?
2. The VSB chooses to buy textbooks or resources in bulk and distribute them to schools. If you find textbooks available in schools to be insufficient, or have a resource you prefer to use, do you have the professional autonomy to choose your own resources?
3. There seems to be an expectation in your school that everyone will be doing running records in reading. You aren't a big fan of that assessment strategy. Do you have the professional autonomy to choose your own assessment strategies?

4. In addition to your assessment on content and criteria, you would like to include a mark for homework completion or effort. Do you have the professional autonomy to give marks for homework completion?

5. Your Principal has asked you to use the performance standards to evaluate students. Do you have the professional autonomy to refuse to use them?

6. Your school plan includes a goal about improving student writing and most staff members have decided to use a “school-wide write”. Do you have the professional autonomy to decide that your class will not participate?

7. Your school has purchased an assessment tool for teachers to administer. Do you have the professional autonomy not to administer it to your students?

8. The staff have decided to do a school-based Pro-D event on a particular topic. You are not interested and have plans to attend a workshop elsewhere. Do you have the professional autonomy to make that choice?

9. Your school has planned an activity on the Ministry of Education Indigenous Focus Day. You have been to many workshops on Indigenous Education and would prefer to do something else. Do you have the professional autonomy to opt for a different pro-d activity?

10. The BCTF has a leaflet about public education funding to distribute but your principal has refused to grant permission during parent-teacher interviews. Do you have the right to distribute them anyway?

Professional Autonomy

ARTICLE F.20: PROFESSIONAL AUTONOMY

1. Professional Autonomy

Employees shall, consistent with effective educational practice, prescribed, authorized curricula and locally developed programs, have individual professional autonomy in determining the methods of instruction, and the planning and presentation of materials in their professional assignments.

Limits to Professional Autonomy

- ▶ District Policy
(e.g. must use chosen reporting tool)
- ▶ Ministerial orders
(e.g. Reporting Order)
- ▶ Curriculum
(mandated by Ministry)
- ▶ Direction from supervisor, subject to grievance

Professional Autonomy is about instruction

- ▶ Attendance at Principal called staff meetings,
 - ▶ Health and Safety regulations,
 - ▶ Collective Agreement requirements,
 - ▶ Punctuality
- ▶ The above points are outside the scope of Professional Autonomy
 - ▶ Concept of “work now, grieve later” applies to management direction

Teacher Evaluation (Article C.22.2)

- ▶ Plans with purpose and clear objectives
- ▶ Communicates purposes and objectives to the students
- ▶ Establishes appropriate procedures for assessment, evaluation and reporting
- ▶ With due consideration for individual differences, works to involve students in experiences and activities designed to develop skills and stimulate thought
- ▶ Uses instructional techniques that promote questioning, speculation and originality
- ▶ Keeps knowledge current and teaching techniques effective
- ▶ Practices classroom management suitable to the growth and development of pupils
- ▶ Participates in development and implementation of the philosophy and practices of school, works cooperatively with colleagues to promote the welfare of pupils
- ▶ Fosters a climate of mutual respect between self and students
- ▶ Seeks to involve parents and gives and obtains information to assist in student development
- ▶ Reviews their practices with colleagues, students and parents

Professional Standards

1. Educators value the success of their students. Educators care for students and act in their best interests
2. Educators act ethically and maintain the integrity, credibility and reputation of the profession
3. Educators understand and apply knowledge of student growth and development
4. Educators value the involvement and support of parents, guardians, families and communities in schools.
5. Educators implement effective planning, instruction, assessment and reporting practices to create respectful, inclusive environments for student learning and development
6. Educators demonstrate a broad knowledge base and an understanding of areas they teach
7. Educators engage in professional learning
8. Educators contribute to the profession
9. Educators respect and value the history of First Nations, Inuit and Metis in Canada and the impact of the past on the present and the future. Educators contribute towards truth, reconciliation and healing. Educators foster a deeper understanding of ways of knowing and being, histories and culture of First Nations, Inuit and Metis.

Professional Development vs In-service

“Teachers are in control of their own professional development. They are in the best position to decide what they need in order to enhance their practice. School or district administrators should not be directing teachers’ choices for professional development. These types of administrator-directed activities should be provided through the use of district funds and release time, not the professional development time and funds that are provided through the local collective agreement. School and district activities would be classified as “in-service.”

New Reporting Order

- ▶ Delayed due to negative feedback from teachers, admin, districts, and parents.
- ▶ Expected spring 2023

<https://www.bctf.ca/whats-happening/news-details/2022/06/29/update-on-ministry-s-k-12-reporting-order>

Policy Summary

- ▶ Student progress in each subject area currently being studied,
- ▶ Areas of significant growth and opportunities for further development
- ▶ Student voice in self-assessment and goal-setting
- ▶ Descriptive feedback and provincial proficiency scale (4 point scale)
- ▶ Reporting will occur 5 times per year:
 - ▶ 4 “learning updates”
 - ▶ 2 updates must be written.
 - ▶ At the end of the year, a “summary of learning” will be provided

Standardization

- ▶ Narrowly focused outcomes, rather than learning needs of children
- ▶ Testing can take time away from teaching and learning
- ▶ FSA, standardized MyEd IEP template are illustrative examples
- ▶ Connected to “accountability” and allegedly aims at addressing gaps in student achievement
- ▶ Concerns about ableism, cultural and historical accessibility
- ▶ Can measure factors other than the content (FSA)
- ▶ Content may be driven by the tool (IEPs)

Personalization

- ▶ Teachers use their judgment to make decisions about how to meet the diverse needs of their particular students
- ▶ No clear definition from Ministry on what “personalization” means (21st century education either!)
- ▶ Resist conflation of personalization with technology
- ▶ Personalization as a potential challenge to supported inclusion, de-categorization of students with special needs / disabled students”

Privatization

- ▶ Content and valued knowledge determined by someone - not neutral!
- ▶ Companies can determine outcomes of learning and embed corporate values in curriculum
- ▶ Equity and opportunity for all requires public schools with public access
- ▶ Tool determines the teaching / content

Datafication

- ▶ Cultural shift towards the acquisition and analysis of data via digital technologies
- ▶ Data collection prioritized
- ▶ Proliferation of digital reporting tools
- ▶ Enable communication but produce data sets for companies
- ▶ Privacy concerns for students and teachers
- ▶ Removes necessary context

Discussion questions

- ▶ What is the difference between systems (i.e. reporting, IEPs) based on “standards” and ones based on “standardization”?
- ▶ What is necessary to uphold teacher autonomy in the context of standardization?
- ▶ What needs to be in place to mobilize technology in support of the core values of public education?
- ▶ How can “personalized” learning be defined so it builds on and supports the fundamental goals of public education, including equity and inclusion?
